

GEN. BADEN-POWELL, BOY SCOUTS' CHIEF, TO VISIT CAPITAL

Expected to Give Great Impetus to the Movement in Washington.

E. S. Martin, executive secretary of the local council, Boy Scouts of America, returned today from New York, where he has been to confer with James K. West, chief scout executive, about the visit to Washington of Lieut. Gen. Sir Robert S. S. Baden-Powell. It is announced that General Baden-Powell will be in the city on February 3.

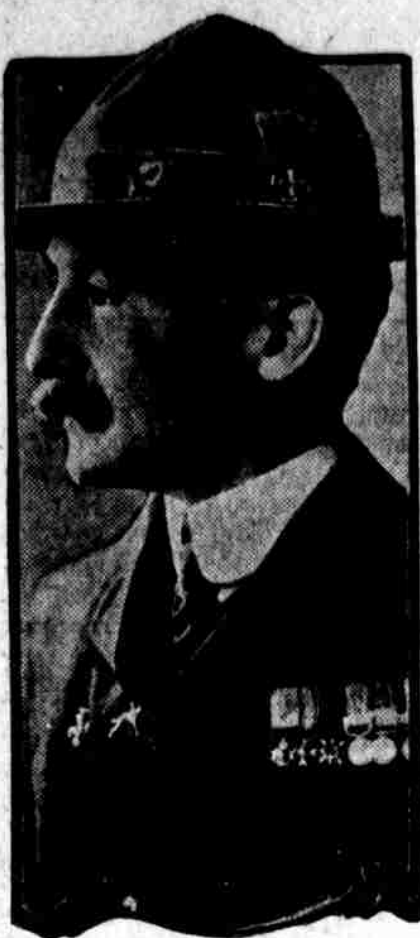

A tremendous impetus to the Boy Scout movement is expected here as well as in other cities from the coming of the man who originated the scheme to prepare boys in time of peace for the service of their country during war. His career in the English army, his defense of Mafeking, and a hundred and one other exploits, are universally declared to make him a figure particularly appealing to boyish imagination.

The general office of the Boy Scouts has prepared a biographical sketch of the general, which terms with incidents of heroism. Describing his scouting expeditions against the Boers, this bulletin says:

"He loves the night, and after his return from the howls in the veldt, where he has been, he lies awake hour after hour upon his camp mattress, tracing out in his mind the various expeditions by which he can forestall the enemies' move, which, unknown to them, he had personally watched him. In the noisy day he yearns for the silent night, in which he can slip into the vistas of the veldt, an unobtrusive spectator of the mystic communion of tree with tree, of twilight with darkness, of land with water, of early morn with fading night, with the music of the journeying winds to speak to him and to tell his thoughts. General Baden-Powell is eminently a man of determination, with great physical endurance and capacity, and extraordinary reticence.

According to the official sketch Baden-Powell can draw and write equally well with either hand. The Boy Scout movement, the general organized the South African constabulary, said to be the finest body of mounted men in the world. There are 10,000 of them. He created the Boy Scout movement in 1908. He will spend six weeks in America.

Will Visit City

GEN. BADEN-POWELL, Founder of the Boy Scouts Movement.

Realty Dealer Gives Labor Trouble Panacea

Before members of the Trades and Workers' Association and their families, Fulton R. Gordon, real estate dealer, advocated profit-sharing as the cure for all troubles between capital and labor. Mr. Gordon's address was the feature of an entertainment given by the association in the rooms of the Builders' Exchange last night. A musical program followed, with dancing and supper.

A telegram of regret at inability to be present was received from Samuel J. Prescott, president of the Builders and Manufacturers' Exchange, and John R. Galloway, secretary, who are on their way to South America.

LAST CHAPTERS OF ROMANCES WRITTEN IN DIVORCE COURT

Justice Wright Gives Decrees to Two Wives Who Figured In Elopements.

Two elopements came to naught in Equity Court No. 2, today when Justice Dan Thew Wright granted absolute divorce decrees to the wives, thus writing the closing chapters in the romances. Mrs. Carrie Frances Irwin was granted a decree from Morris Irwin, formerly a drug clerk, whom she married at Rockville, Md., January 7, 1911, after eloping from Washington. The couple lived together two months at the home of the bride's parents, 3429 Fourteenth street, Mrs. Irwin alleging her parents supported them during that time. She admitted she eloped.

The other decree was given to Mrs. Eliza T. Emmert, a boardinghouse keeper, who eloped with a boarder, Karl Henry Emmert, to Baltimore, May 17, 1904, and was married, keeping the news a secret until July 4, 1906. The couple lived happily until September, 1911, when there was a separation. Mrs. Emmert told the court the marriage was kept a secret because her husband was hardly able to support a wife.

Justice Wright also granted an absolute divorce to Arthur L. Grimes from Florence A. Grimes.

WILSON WINDS UP TOUR; IS SILENT ON WATTERSON CHARGE

Governor Makes No Reply to "Schoolmaster" Statement.

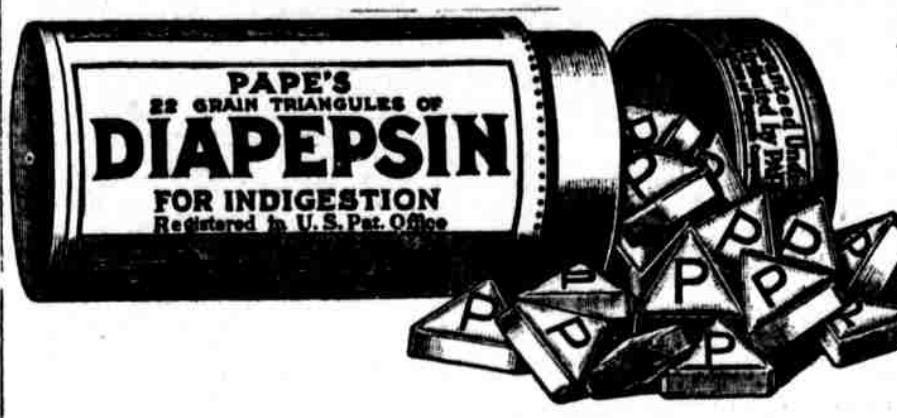

DETROIT, Mich., Jan. 19.—Refusing again to make any comment on the charge of ingratitude made against him by Col. Henry Watterson, regarding his break with Col. George Harvey, of Harper's Weekly, Gov. Woodrow Wilson, Democratic candidate for the Presidential nomination, left today for Ann Arbor and Grand Rapids, where he will complete his two-day tour of Michigan with a Democratic rally tonight. The nearest the governor got in reference to Watterson's statement that "Wilson was a schoolmaster rather than a statesman," was when he asserted that "a schoolmaster is a man trained to find out about all things and then tell the people."

There also was a hint of a reply to Colonel Watterson's statement that "Wilson was a schoolmaster rather than a statesman," was when he asserted that "a schoolmaster is a man trained to find out about all things and then tell the people."

"They say Governor Wilson is an educational theorist and not practical enough. Any man that could handle a class of highlanders in the Democratic party of New Jersey is practical enough for any crowd of politicians anywhere in the country."

WE could pack a little less costly coffee and keep on calling it HOTEL ASTOR COFFEE.

But it wouldn't be HOTEL ASTOR COFFEE—we would know it—and you would know it. And our reputation for establishing a standard of high excellence, built up by fifty years of effort, would be smashed in a day. Because we believe that "quality is the best policy" we have always attended to the quality first and the price afterward. There are coffees that cost less than HOTELASTORCOFFEE. When you taste them you know why.

Never sold in bulk—always in one and three pound sealed tins, beans, ground or pulverized. 38 cents per pound at any good grocer's.
